

Projango Report Generation

In many cases summaries in the form of spreadsheets are required also for agile projects, or project status reports have to be send by email. Or you want for specific cases to calculate more statistics from Projango's numbers and calculations than those already offered by Projango.

This isn't a problem. Projango is able to create a complete sprint report in Microsoft Excel format (.xlsx). Even an abstract of the backlog is possible.

On the sprint, story or task level you are able to generate complete reports in PDF so that you can document your project with the click of a button. With that feature you are also easily able to print out project details or send them via email.
